What is this product?
New Capital Global Equity Income Fund is a Sub-Fund of New Capital UCITS Fund plc, which is constituted in the form of an umbrella investment company with variable capital and limited liability. It is domiciled in Ireland and its home regulator is the Central Bank of Ireland (the "CBI").
Objective and Investment Strategy
Objectives
The Sub-Fund's investment objective is to achieve a high level of income as well as capital appreciation by investing in a portfolio of global securities.

Strategy

The Sub-Fund shall invest at least 70%, and may invest up to 100%, of its net asset value (“NAV”) in securities in companies worldwide that offer a combination of attractive dividend yields and / or growing dividend payments with the potential for capital growth. The Sub-Fund will invest in equities and equity-related securities (specifically convertible bonds with fixed and/or floating rates of interest) issued by companies worldwide (without any particular geographic, industry/sector or market capitalisation focus) and whose shares are listed or traded on regulated stock exchanges and markets in accordance with the requirements of the CBI (a list of these stock exchanges and markets is listed in Appendix II of the Prospectus). The Sub-Fund’s exposure to emerging markets may exceed 20% (and may be up to 100%) of its NAV.

Investment in convertible bonds is expected to be nominal but, in any event, will not exceed 30% of the NAV of the Sub-Fund. The Sub-Fund may also invest in open-ended and closed ended collective investment schemes which give exposure to equities and equity-related securities (convertible bonds) of companies in which the Sub-Fund may invest directly in accordance with its investment policy provided such investments are eligible for investment by UCITS (which in the context of closed-ended collective investment schemes means such investments must constitute transferable securities for UCITS purposes). Investment in such collective investment schemes will not exceed 10% in aggregate of the NAV of the Sub-Fund.

The Sub-Fund is permitted to invest less than 30% of its NAV in China A shares which are listed on the Shanghai Stock Exchange using the Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect or on the Shenzhen Stock Exchange using the Shenzhen Hong Kong Stock Connect. Alternatively the Sub-Fund may gain indirect exposure to China A shares via participatory notes issued by Qualified Foreign Institutional Investors and via investment in other collective investment schemes which primarily invest in China A shares. The Sub-Fund will not invest in China B shares.

The Sub-Fund may use financial derivative instruments for efficient portfolio management and hedging purposes.

The Sub-Fund may invest no more than 10% of its NAV in securities which are issued and/or guaranteed by any single sovereign issuer (including its government, a public or local authority of that country) which has a credit rating that is below investment grade.

Under exceptional circumstances (e.g. a market crash or major crisis), the Sub-Fund may be invested temporarily up to 100% of its NAV in ancillary liquid assets such as bank deposits, certificates of deposit, commercial paper and treasury bills for cash flow management.

The investment strategy of the Investment Manager is to create a portfolio of global equities and equity related securities that are diversified by both region and sector and that are selected by the Investment Manager’s stock picking proprietary “conviction” framework (the “Conviction Framework”) which guides the Investment Manager towards superior businesses and industry structures resulting in the likelihood the relevant investee company can sustainably grow its cash flows over time and offer a combination of attractive dividend yields and / or growing dividend payments with the potential for capital growth. The Conviction Framework provides a road map for identifying, clarifying and quantifying a stock’s investment thesis and is split into four pillars (cash flow, growth, management and dividend), rating each company relative to others.

In addition to the integration of sustainability risks, as set out in the section of the Prospectus entitled “Integration of Sustainability Risks”, the Sub-Fund promotes a range of environmental and social characteristics through an additional set of measures as set out in the section of the Supplement relating to the Sub-Fund entitled “Investment Policy – Promotion of Environmental and Social Characteristics”.

The Sub-Fund's benchmark is the MSCI World Net Total Return USD Index (the “Benchmark”). The investment performance of the Sub-Fund will be measured against the Benchmark. The Sub-Fund is actively managed and as such does not seek to replicate the Benchmark, but instead may differ from the Benchmark in order to achieve its objective. While certain of the Sub-Fund's securities may be components of the Benchmark, the Sub-Fund is not constrained by the Benchmark in the selection of investments and the Investment Manager will use its discretion to invest in securities not included in the Benchmark in order to take advantage of specific investment opportunities.

Use of Derivatives / Investment in Derivatives

The Sub-Fund's net derivative exposure may be up to 50% of the Sub-Fund's NAV.

What are the key risks?

Investment involves risks. Please refer to the Hong Kong Offering Document for details including the risk factors.

- Investment Risk

The investment objective of the Sub-Fund may not be achieved. There is no guarantee that investors will receive their original principal investment back. There is also no guarantee of dividend or distribution payment.

- Investing in Equity Securities

The fundamental risk associated with any equity portfolio is the risk that the value of the investments it holds might decrease in value. Equity security values may fluctuate in response to the activities of an individual company or in response to general market and/or economic conditions. The value of, and income derived from, equity securities held may fluctuate and the Sub-Fund may not recoup the original amount invested in such securities. The prices of, and the income generated by, equity securities may decline in response to certain events, including the activities and results of the issuer, general economic and market conditions, regional or global economic instability and currency and interest rate fluctuations, which may have an adverse impact on the NAV of the Sub-Fund.

- Emerging Markets Risk

The Sub-Fund may invest in securities of companies in emerging markets which may involve a high degree of risk and may be considered speculative. Risks include but are not limited to the following: (i) greater risk of expropriation, confiscatory taxation, nationalization, privatization, corruption, organized crime and social and political and economic instability; (ii) the small current size of the markets for securities of emerging markets issuers and the currently low or non-existent volume of trading, resulting in lack of liquidity and in price volatility; (iii) certain national policies which may restrict the Sub-Fund's investment opportunities including restrictions on investing in issuers or industries deemed sensitive to relevant national interests; (iv) uncertainties in international political developments, changes in government policies, changes in taxation, restrictions on foreign investment and currency repatriation, currency fluctuation and other developments in the laws and regulations of countries in which investments may be made; (v) it may not be possible for the Sub-Fund to repatriate capital, dividends, interest and other income from certain countries; (vi) lack of independence and effective government supervision of company registrars; (vii) the absence of developed legal structures governing private or foreign investment and private property; and (viii) the legal infrastructure and accounting, auditing and reporting standards in certain countries in which investment may be made may not provide the same degree of investor protection or information to investors as would generally apply in major securities markets. The Sub-Fund's NAV and your investment may be correspondingly impacted by any of the abovementioned risks and lead to losses.

- Currency Risk

Assets in the Sub-Fund may be denominated in a currency other than the base currency (i.e. USD) and any income or capital received by the Sub-Fund from these investments may be denominated in the local currency denomination of the relevant asset, whereas the Sub-Fund is denominated in the base currency.

Further, a class of Shares may be designated in a currency other than the base currency of the Sub-Fund. Accordingly, (i) changes in the exchange rate between (a) the base currency and the currency denomination of the relevant asset and (b) the currency denomination of the relevant asset and the currency in which a class of Shares is denominated (i.e share class currency) may lead to a depreciation of the value of certain assets of the Sub-Fund; and (ii) changes in the exchange rate between the base currency and (a) the share class currency and / or (b) the currency of denomination of the relevant asset may lead to a depreciation of the value of such Shares as expressed in the share class currency.

It may not be possible or practical to hedge against such exchange rate risk. The Sub-Fund may enter into currency exchange transactions and/or use techniques and instruments to seek to protect against fluctuation in the relative value of its portfolio positions. These transactions limit any potential gain that might be realised should the value of the hedged currency increase. The successful execution of a hedging strategy which matches exactly the profile of the investments of the Sub-Fund cannot be assured. It may not be possible to hedge against generally anticipated exchange or interest rate fluctuations at a price sufficient to protect the assets from the anticipated decline in value of the portfolio positions as a result of such fluctuations. The abovementioned hedging transactions may become ineffective and the Sub-Fund may suffer a substantial loss.

- Risk in connection with Investing in Convertible Bonds

The Sub-Fund may invest in convertible bonds, which are a hybrid between debt and equity, permitting holders to convert into Shares in the company issuing the bond at a specified future date. On one hand, convertible bonds are subject to interest rate risk and credit risks. On the other hand, the prices of convertible bonds will be affected by the changes in the price of the underlying equity securities which, in turn, may have an unfavourable impact on the NAV of the Sub-Fund. Further, convertible bonds may have call provisions and other features which may give rise to the risk of a call which may adversely affect the value of the Sub-Fund.

- Derivatives Risk

The use of financial derivative instruments presents risks different from, and, possibly, greater than, the risks associated with investing directly in traditional securities. There can be no assurance that the use of hedging strategies and derivatives will fully and effectively eliminate the risk exposure of the Sub-Fund. The use of financial derivative instruments and currency hedging strategies may be ineffective and the Sub-Fund may suffer substantial losses.

- Risks associated with charging of certain fees and expenses to capital

Payment of dividends effectively out of capital amounts to a return or withdrawal of part of an investor's original investment or from any capital gains attributable to that original investment. Any payment of dividends effectively out of the Sub-Fund's capital may result in an immediate reduction of the NAV per Share. The Fund may amend the policy with respect to payment of dividends out of capital of the Sub-Fund subject to the Securities and Futures Commission ("SFC")'s prior approval and by giving not less than one month's prior notice to investors.
