What is this product?

This is a fund constituted in the form of a mutual fund. It is domiciled in Luxembourg and its home regulator is the Commission de Surveillance du Secteur Financier ("CSSF").

Objectives and Investment Strategy

Objective

The Fund's objective is capital appreciation, measured in U.S. dollars.

Strategy

The Fund normally focuses its investments in equity securities of issuers located in developed and emerging market countries, however the Fund may invest without limit in debt instruments of corporate and government issuers and securitized instruments, as well as cash and cash-equivalent instruments, based on the Investment Manager's view of the relative value of different types of securities and/or other market conditions. The Investment Manager seeks to reduce the volatility of the Fund's returns relative to the global equity markets, as represented by the MSCI World Index (USD). The Fund may invest in companies it believes to have above average earnings growth potential compared to other companies (growth companies), in companies it believes are undervalued compared to their perceived worth (value companies), or in a combination of growth and value companies. The Fund may invest in companies of any size. The Fund may invest in below investment grade (which may include unrated) debt instruments. The Fund does not currently intend to invest more than 10% of its net asset value in securities issued and/or guaranteed by any single sovereign issuer (including its government and a public or local authority of that country) with a credit rating below investment grade and/or being unrated. Any such investment over 10% is subject to additional disclosure as required by current Hong Kong regulations. The Fund may invest a relatively large percentage of its assets in a small number of issuers. The Fund will promote an environmental characteristic within the meaning of Article 8 of the Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 of 27 November 2019 on sustainability-related disclosures in the financial sector ("SFDR"). Please refer to the fund's Prospectus for additional information. The Investment Manager may also consider environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors in its fundamental investment analysis alongside other factors.

The Fund may use derivatives for hedging, efficient portfolio management and/or investment purposes, including to increase or decrease exposure to a particular market, segment of the market, or security, to manage interest rate or currency exposure or other characteristics of the Fund, or as alternatives to direct investments. Derivatives used for efficient portfolio management purposes are used where the Investment Manager believes such techniques will reduce overall risk of the portfolio, to reduce tax impact or costs of investing in eligible securities, to more efficiently or effectively gain access to eligible assets or to generate additional capital or income, providing that the portfolio's risk levels remain consistent.

The primary types of derivatives expected to be used by the Fund under normal market conditions include forward contracts, options, futures and swaps. The Fund may invest up to 5% of its net asset value in debt instruments with loss-absorption features (e.g. contingent convertible bonds).

In light of the Fund's principal investment strategy, the Investment Manager believes it is reasonable to compare the Fund's performance (net of Fund expenses) over a full market cycle relative to the performance of (i) the MSCI World Index (net div) (USD) and (ii) the ICE BofA Merrill Lynch 0-3 Month U.S. T-Bill Index (net div) (USD) plus 3% to 5%. The Fund's benchmarks are indicated for performance (including volatility) comparison only. The Investment Manager does not seek to achieve a specific rate of return in managing the Fund and there is no assurance that the Fund will outperform these indices over the long term or for any year or period of years. The Fund is actively managed within its objectives and is not constrained by the benchmarks.

Use of Derivatives

The Fund's net derivatives exposure may be up to 50% of the Fund's net asset value.

What are the key risks?

Investment involves risks. Please refer to the offering document for details including the risk factors.

- General Investment Risk

There can be no guarantee that the Fund will achieve its investment objective. The value of your investment can go up or down due to any of the key risk factors below and you may not get back the amount invested.

- Equity Market/Company Risk

Equity markets are volatile and can decline significantly in response to issuer, market, economic, industry, political, regulatory, geopolitical, public health, and other conditions, as well as to investor perceptions of these conditions. The price of an equity security can decrease significantly in response to these conditions, and these conditions can affect a single issuer or type of security, issuers within a broad market sector, industry or geographic region, or the market in general.

- Credit Risk

The price of a debt instrument depends, in part, on the credit quality of the issuer, borrower, counterparty, or in the case of a collateralized debt instrument, the underlying collateral and can decline in response to changes in the financial condition of the issuer, borrower, counterparty, or underlying collateral, or changes in specific or general market, economic, industry, political, regulatory, geopolitical, public health, or other conditions. To the extent an investment grade debt instrument is downgraded, such instrument can involve a substantially greater risk of default or may already be in default and may also increase liquidity risk for the Fund, which can cause the value of such instrument to significantly decline and losses to the Fund. The Investment Manager may not be able to dispose of, or value with certainty, the debt instruments that are being downgraded.

- Interest Rate Risk

In general, the price of a debt instrument falls when interest rates rise and rises when interest rates fall. Interest rate risk is generally greater for instruments with longer maturities, or that do not pay current interest.

- Below Investment Grade and Unrated Debt Credit Risk

Below investment grade and unrated debt instruments can involve a substantially greater risk of default or can already be in default, and their values can decline significantly. Below investment grade and unrated debt instruments are regarded as having predominantly speculative characteristics and tend to be less liquid and more sensitive to adverse news about the issuer, or the market or economy in general, than higher quality or investment grade debt instruments.

- Issuer Focus Risk

To the extent the Fund invests a relatively large percentage of its assets in a small number of issuers, the Fund's performance could be closely tied to those issuers, and could be more volatile than the performance of more diversified funds.

- Geographic Concentration Risk

To the extent that the Fund invests a relatively large percentage of its assets in a single region, the Fund's performance would be closely tied to the market, currency, economic, political, regulatory, geopolitical, public health, or other conditions prevailing in that region and could be more volatile than the performance of more geographically diverse funds

- Emerging Markets Risk

Exposure to emerging markets can involve additional risks relating to market, economic, political, regulatory, geopolitical, or other conditions. These factors can make emerging markets investments more volatile and less liquid than developed markets investments. Emerging markets can have less developed markets and less developed legal, regulatory, and accounting systems, and greater political, social, and economic instability than developed markets.

- Securitized Instruments Risk

The Fund may invest in securitized instruments, which may be highly illiquid and prone to substantial price volatility. These instruments may be subject to greater credit, liquidity and interest rate risk compared to other debt securities. They are subject to prepayment and/or extension, which can reduce the potential for gain for the instrument's holders if the instrument is prepaid and increase the potential for loss if the maturity of the instrument is extended. They are also subject to the risk that payment obligations relating to the underlying collateral may not be met, which may adversely affect the returns of the securities.

- Derivatives Risk

Derivatives can be used to take both long and synthetic short positions (i.e., the value of a derivative can be positively or negatively related to the value of the underlying indicator(s) on which the derivative is based). Derivatives can be highly volatile and involve risks in addition to the risks of the underlying indicator(s). Gains or losses from derivatives can be substantially greater than the derivatives' original cost and can involve leverage, and in adverse situations may result in significant or total loss.

- Currency Risk

Currency rates fluctuate in response to market, economic, political, regulatory, geopolitical, or other conditions. Because a Fund can invest in instruments issued in currencies other than the Fund's base currency or share class currency, and a class of shares may be designated in a currency other than the base currency, changes in currency rates and exchange rate controls can affect the value of such instruments and the value of your investment. Investors whose assets and liabilities are primarily denominated in currencies other than the base currency of the Fund (USD) or the currency of the class in which the investment is made, or investors in a class of shares designated in a currency other than the base currency, should take into account the potential risk of loss arising from the fluctuations in the rate of exchange between such currencies. Currency rate changes may also affect the financial condition of the issuers in which the Fund invests.

- Hedging Risk

For hedged share classes, the Fund will generally enter into currency hedging transactions with the aim to reduce the exchange rate and return fluctuations between the hedged share class and the base currency of the Fund. There is no guarantee that hedging instruments will be available or that hedging techniques will achieve their desired result. This may have adverse impact on the hedged share class and its investors.

- Investment Selection Risk

The Investment Manager's investment analysis and its selection of investments may not produce the intended results and/or can lead to an investment focus that results in the Fund underperforming other funds with similar investment strategies and/or underperforming the markets in which the Fund invests. There is no assurance that the Fund will have a positive rate of return or will be less volatile than the global equity markets over the long term or for any year or period of years. It is expected that the Fund will generally underperform the equity markets during periods of strong, rising equity markets.

How has the fund performed?

† Secondary benchmark performance shown above for periods prior to 27 August 2021 is representative of the Fund's prior benchmark, .

- Past performance is not indicative of future performance. Investors may not get back the full amount invested.
- The computation basis of the performance is based on calendar year end, NAV-to-NAV, with dividends reinvested.
- These figures show by how much Class A1USD increased or decreased in value during the calendar year being shown. This class was selected by the Investment Manager as the most appropriate representative share class because it is denominated in the fund's base currency and is a primary share class made available to retail Hong Kong investors. Performance has been calculated in U.S. Dollars including ongoing charges and excluding any subscription fee and redemption fee you might have to pay.

- Performance of the Fund's primary benchmark, MSCI World Index (net div) and the Fund's secondary benchmark, ICE BofA Merrill Lynch 0-3 Month U.S. T-Bill Index (USD) are also shown.
- Fund launch date: 2008
- Share Class A1USD launch date: 2008

Is there any guarantee?
