What is this product?

ICBC Asset Management China Emerging Enterprises Fund (formerly known as Global Emerging Enterprises Fund) is a sub-fund of ICBC Asset Management (Global) Funds (the "Unit Trust"), which is an umbrella structure unit trust established under Hong Kong law by a trust deed dated 2 July 2009, as amended from time to time.

Objective and Investment Strategy

ICBC Asset Management China Emerging Enterprises Fund (formerly known as Global Emerging Enterprises Fund) seeks to achieve long-term capital appreciation through investing not less than 70% of its NAV in exchange-traded equities of companies whose business is connected with the economy of China (including Hong Kong and Macau) in industries relating to technology, internet, consumer, healthcare and/or other emerging industries and companies that display pioneering and leading-edge technological developments. The Sub-Fund aims to capture China's economic growth trends in emerging industries and companies that have potential to be sustained in the long run as compared to more established companies.

The Sub-Fund may invest not less than 50% of its NAV in newly-listed equities of companies whose business is connected with the economy of China (including Hong Kong and Macau). Newly-listed equity securities are defined as (i) equity securities issued during the initial public offerings by companies for listing on any stock exchanges around the world; and (ii) exchange-traded equity securities which have been listed for over 7 business days but less than four years.

The Sub-Fund may invest less than 70% of its NAV in equities of companies that have a total market capitalisation below HKD 10 billion. The Sub-Fund may invest less than 30% of its NAV in China A-share equities through Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect Scheme / Shenzhen-Hong Kong Stock Connect Scheme.

In addition, the Sub-Fund may invest less than 30% of its NAV in money market instruments. Money market instruments may include but are not limited to negotiated term bank deposits, bank certificates of deposit and commercial papers. There may be no credit rating on these securities and/or instruments to be invested by the Sub-Fund.

Under exceptional circumstances (e.g. market crash or major crisis), the fund may invest temporarily up to 100% of its NAV in liquid assets such as bank deposits, certificates of deposit, commercial paper and treasury bills for cash flow management.

Use of derivatives

The Sub-Fund will not use derivatives for any purposes.

What are the key risks?

Investment involves risks. Please refer to the Explanatory Memorandum for details including the risk factors.

1. Investment risk

- The Sub-Fund's investment portfolio may fall in value due to any of the key risk factors below and therefore your investment in the Sub-Fund may suffer losses. There is no guarantee of the repayment of principal.

2. Technology-related securities risk

- The technology industries are at a very early stage of development, and many of the companies in these industries have a very short history. Rapid changes in technology could render obsolete the products and services offered by the companies in which the Sub-Fund invests, and cause severe or complete declines in the prices of the securities of those companies.

3. Equity market risk

- The Sub-Fund's investment in equity securities is subject to general market risks, whose value may fluctuate due to various factors, such as changes in investment sentiment, political and economic conditions and issuer-specific factors.

4. Concentration risk in China

- The Sub-Fund's investments are concentrated in specific industry sectors and in China (including Hong Kong and Macau). The value of the Sub-Fund may be more volatile than that of a fund having a more diverse portfolio of investments.
- The value of the Sub-Fund may be more susceptible to adverse economic, political, policy, foreign exchange, liquidity, tax, legal or regulatory event affecting the technology industry and in China (including Hong Kong and Macau).

5. Foreign exchange/currency risk

- Underlying investments of the Sub-Fund may be denominated in currencies other than the base currency of the Sub-Fund. The NAV of the Sub-Fund may be affected unfavourably by fluctuations in the exchange rates between these currencies and the base currency and by changes in exchange rate controls.

6. Liquidity risk

- The Sub-Fund invests in China (including Hong Kong and Macau) which may be subject to higher volatility and lower liquidity compared to more developed markets. The prices of securities traded in China (including Hong Kong and Macau) may be subject to fluctuations.

7. Risk associated with small-capitalisation / mid-capitalisation companies

- The stock of small-capitalisation/ mid-capitalisation companies may have lower liquidity and their price are more volatile to adverse economic developments than those of larger capitalisation companies in general.

8. Risk associated with China A-shares market

- Investing in the China market is subject to certain risks of investing in emerging markets generally and the risks specific to the China market. Economic measures implemented by the Chinese government may be subject to adjustment and modification. Any significant change in China's political, social or economic policies may have a negative impact on investments in the China market.
- The regulatory and legal framework for capital markets and joint stock companies in China may not be comparable to other countries/regions. Chinese accounting standards and practices may deviate significantly from international accounting standards. The settlement and clearing systems of the Chinese securities markets may be different from other countries in respect of the level of maturity and development.
- The China A-Shares markets are still in a stage of development, which may lead to uncertainties and difficulties in settlement and recording of transactions and in applying the relevant regulations. These may lead to a higher level of volatility and instability associated with the China A-Shares markets.

9. Risks associated with the Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect/ Shenzhen-Hong Kong Stock Connect Scheme

- The relevant rules and regulations on Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect/ Shenzhen-Hong Kong Stock Connect are subject to change which may have potential retrospective effect. The Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect/ Shenzhen-Hong Kong Stock Connect is subject to quota limitations. Where a suspension in the trading through the programme is effected, the Sub-Fund's ability to invest in China A-shares or access the PRC market through the programme will be adversely affected. In such event, the Sub-Fund's ability to achieve its investment objective could be negatively affected.

10. PRC tax risk

- Based on professional and independent tax advice, the Sub-Fund currently will not make the following tax provision (i.e. 10% withholding income tax provision on realised and/or unrealised capital gains from investing in A shares via Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect and/or Shenzhen-Hong Kong Stock Connect).
- There are risks and uncertainties associated with the current PRC tax laws, regulations and practice in respect of capital gains realised via Shanghai and Shenzhen Connect on the Sub-Fund's investments in the PRC. Any future changes in the taxation policies in respect of the Sub-Fund's investment in A shares in the PRC will impact on the Sub-Fund's returns. It is possible that any future announcement by the PRC tax authority may subject the Sub-Fund to unforeseen tax obligations, which may have retrospective effect.

11. China risk

- The Sub-Fund invests in China (including Hong Kong and Macau) which may involve increased risks and special considerations not typically associated with investment in more developed markets, such as liquidity risks, currency risks/control, political and economic uncertainties, legal and taxation risks, settlement risks, custody risk and the likelihood of a high degree of volatility.

How has the Sub-Fund performed?

Note:

- Past performance information is not indicative of future performance. Investors may not get back the full amount invested.
- The computation basis of the performance is based on the calendar year end, NAV-to-NAV, with dividend reinvested.
- These figures show by how much the Class A of the Sub-Fund increased or decreased in value during the calendar year being shown.
- Performance data has been calculated in HKD, including ongoing charges and excluding subscription fee and redemption fee you might have to pay.
- Where no past performance is shown, there was insufficient data available in that year to provide performance.
- The Manager views Class A having the longest track record as the most appropriate representative unit class.
- Sub-Fund launch date: 2009.
- Unit class launch date: 2009.

Is there any guarantee?

This Sub-Fund does not have any guarantees. You may not get back the full amount of money you invest.
