What is this product?

This is a fund constituted in the form of a mutual fund. It is domiciled in Luxembourg and its home regulator is the Commission de Surveillance du Secteur Financier ("CSSF").

Objectives and Investment Strategy

Objective

The Fund's objective is capital appreciation, measured in Japanese yen.

Strategy

The Fund invests primarily (at least 70%) in Japanese equity securities. The Fund may invest in companies it believes to have above average earnings growth potential compared to other companies (growth companies), companies it believes are undervalued compared to their perceived worth (value companies), or in a combination of growth and value companies. The Fund may invest in companies of any size. The Fund may invest a relatively large percentage of its assets in a small number of companies. The Investment Manager may consider environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors in its fundamental investment analysis alongside other factors.

The Fund may use derivatives for hedging, efficient portfolio management and/or investment purposes, including to increase or decrease exposure to a particular market, segment of the market, or security, to manage currency exposure or other characteristics of the Fund, or as alternatives to direct investments. Derivatives used for efficient portfolio management purposes are used where the Investment Manager believes such techniques will reduce overall risk of the portfolio, to reduce tax impact or costs of investing in eligible securities, to more efficiently or effectively gain access to eligible assets or to generate additional capital or income, providing that the portfolio's risk levels remain consistent.

The primary types of derivatives expected to be used by the Fund under normal market conditions include forward contracts and options. The Fund may invest up to 5% of its net asset value in debt instruments with loss-absorption features (e.g. contingent convertible bonds).

The Fund's benchmark, MSCI Japan Index (net div) (JPY), is indicated for performance comparison only. While many issuers in which the Fund invests are generally represented in the benchmark, the Fund is actively managed within its objectives and the investment strategy will not restrict the extent to which portfolio holdings may deviate from the benchmark. The deviation may be significant.

Use of Derivatives

The Fund's net derivatives exposure may be up to 50% of the Fund's net asset value.

What are the key risks?

Investment involves risks. Please refer to the offering document for details including the risk factors.

- General Investment Risk

There can be no guarantee that the Fund will achieve its investment objective. The value of your investment can go up or down due to any of the key risk factors below and you may not get back the amount invested.

- Equity Market/Company Risk

Equity markets are volatile and can decline significantly in response to issuer, market, economic, industry, political, regulatory, geopolitical, public health, and other conditions, as well as to investor perceptions of these conditions. The price of an equity security can decrease significantly in response to these conditions, and these conditions can affect a single issuer or type of security, issuers within a broad market sector, industry or geographic region, or the market in general.

- Japan Concentration Risk

The Fund's performance could be closely tied to the market, currency, economic, political, regulatory, geopolitical, or other conditions in Japan and could be more volatile than the performance of more geographically-diversified funds.

- Issuer Focus Risk

To the extent the Fund invests a relatively large percentage of its assets in a small number of issuers, the Fund's performance could be closely tied to those issuers, and could be more volatile than the performance of more diversified funds.

- Derivatives Risk

Derivatives can be used to take both long and synthetic short positions (i.e., the value of a derivative can be positively or negatively related to the value of the underlying indicator(s) on which the derivative is based). Derivatives can be highly volatile and involve risks in addition to the risks of the underlying indicator(s). Gains or losses from derivatives can be substantially greater than the derivatives' original cost and can involve leverage, and in adverse situations may result in significant or total loss.

- Currency Risk

Currency rates fluctuate in response to market, economic, political, regulatory, geopolitical, or other conditions. Because a Fund can invest in instruments issued in currencies other than the Fund's base currency or share class currency, and a class of shares may be designated in a currency other than the base currency, changes in currency rates and exchange rate controls can affect the value of such instruments and the value of your investment. Investors whose assets and liabilities are primarily denominated in currencies other than the base currency of the Fund (JPY) or the currency of the class in which the investment is made, or investors in a class of shares designated in a currency other than the base currency, should take into account the potential risk of loss arising from the fluctuations in the rate of exchange between such currencies. Currency rate changes may also affect the financial condition of the issuers in which the Fund invests.

Investment Selection Risk

The Investment Manager's investment analysis and its selection of investments may not produce the intended results and/or can lead to an investment focus that results in the Fund underperforming other funds with similar investment strategies and/or underperforming the markets in which the Fund invests.

How has the fund performed?

^A The Fund's investment strategy and base currency changed on 7 June 2022; performance shown above is representative of the prior representative class (i.e., A1USD) and the Fund's prior investment strategy which was achieved under circumstances that no longer apply due to the change of base currency of the Fund from U.S. Dollars to Japanese Yen on 7 June 2022. Investors should exercise caution when considering the past performance of the Fund prior to 7 June 2022. In addition, the benchmark performance shown above for the periods prior to 7 June 2022 is representative of the Fund's prior benchmark (i.e., MSCI Japan Index (net div) (USD)).

- Past performance is not indicative of future performance. Investors may not get back the full amount invested.
- The computation basis of the performance is based on calendar year end, NAV-to-NAV, with dividends reinvested.
- With effect from 7 June 2022, the Fund's representative class was changed to Class I1JPY. This class was selected by the Investment Manager as the most appropriate representative share class because it is denominated in the fund's base currency (i.e., Japanese Yen with effect from 7 June 2022) and is a primary share class made available to Hong Kong investors.
- Since Class I1JPY was launched in June 2022, the performance of the Fund's prior representative class, Class A1USD, is shown. These figures show by how much A1USD increased or decreased in value during the calendar year being shown. Performance has been calculated in U.S. Dollars including ongoing charges and excluding any subscription fee and redemption fee you might have to pay.
- The Fund's benchmark was changed from MSCI Japan Index (net div) (USD) to MSCI Japan Index (net div) (JPY) on 7 June 2022 due to the change of base currency of the Fund from U.S. Dollars to Japanese Yen on 7 June 2022. Performance of the Fund's prior benchmark for the periods prior to 7 June 2022, MSCI Japan Index (net div) (USD), is also shown.
- Fund launch date: 2007
- Share Class I1JPY launch date: 2022
- Share Class A1USD launch date: 2007

Is there any guarantee?

The Fund does not have any guarantees. You may not get back the full amount of money you invest.
